FYI's

Dress appropriately for the weather! There are a lot of days that it is cold in the morning and warm by the afternoon!

Pictures will be sent to your email and the last four digits of your phone numbers are the passwords! If you have more than one student, there is an a, b, c, etc. for how many children you have. So, my family has 3 children, my passwords would be

1. 6431a
2. 6431b
3. 6431c

Eagle Update

GOSPEL: Mark 9: 38-43

The language in this Gospel is disturbing, almost frightening, but Jesus drives his point home. Nothing should distract or deter you from living the right way. The punishment for evil is separation from God forever. Nothing is worth that. The examples Jesus gives are extreme, but he speaks to encourage us to be careful about every action we take.

The gift of the sacrament of reconciliation is given to us as a way in which we can examine our lives in comparison to the life of Jesus and ask for help to do better. Consider celebrating this sacrament as a family soon.

Have a great homecoming parade! Show off our Eagle pride!

I hope you all have a great weekend! We have a new teacher in the 5th grade. Mrs. Nelson is taking over in the class, and I am going to get caught up on some backlogged information. We will wrap up NWEA testing by the 8th of October, and the end of the quarter is on October 22nd. Please continue to encourage reading with your students, as this will help them in any subject.

Please make sure you understand the drop off instructions. I know we aren't staggered anymore, so that has caused a little more chaos than last year. Please email me if you have a question, but I always want you to know that your families safety is of the utmost importance to all of us at AACS.
